Report of the Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Needham:

In submitting the report of the expenditures in the several departments under our charge as selectmen, overseers of the poor and board of health, a few words in brief review of the work of the year may not be out of place.

STREETS, ROADS AND BRIDGES.

David F. Henderson has been continued in the office of superintendent of streets by re-appointment, and we believe the results of his supervision show substantial improvement in the condition of our travelled ways. Two very necessary and quite expensive improvements which have been deferred from year to year, have been completed--the approaches to the Hunnewell street bridge and the drainage of Chestnut street at Great Plain avenue. The approaches to Hunnewell street bridge have been widened and retaining walls and sidewalks built, and all completed in such a manner as to render the crossing of the bridge safe, and incidentally to improve the appearance of the street and avenue. An under drain has been put into Chestnut street, from Great Plain avenue to the valley below Oak street, of sufficient capacity to carry off all the water from the square formed by the junction of Chapel street and Great Plain avenue, and also all that running into Chestnut street and adjoining streets and lands.

Portions of Chestnut street and Highland avenue have been thoroughly reconstructed and surfaced, so that we now have a first-class road from South street to Webster street which will require only ordinary and occasional repairs to keep the thoroughfare in good condition.

Highland avenue, between Chapel street and Rosemary street, was treated with crushed stone and the surface well rolled with a steam road roller. In the process of rolling a macadam road, it is necessary that the material should be well watered, and it being impossible to hire at that time, a street sprinkler of the latest improved pattern was purchased and used on that work. It is now the property of the town and ready for use in future work on the streets.

While the expenditures on the roads and bridges have been somewhat in excess of the appropriation, yet much of the work done in the past season is of a permanent character, and will not have to be repeated in the same locality for years to come, and the excess of expenditure is largely represented by appliances and materials now on hand, to the credit of future appropriations, viz: street sprinkler, about 800 feet of 10-inch drain pipe, and some 500 tons of stone on the platform at the crusher.

Highland avenue, from Webster street to the Newton line needs thorough reconstruction or repair, and will require a large outlay to put it in condition to compare at all favorably with the other parts of the street; and as this board believes that our town has done its full share in building and maintaining a thoroughfare for the heavy travel from adjoining towns which concentrates on this road, a petition has been filed with the state highway commission, praying that Highland avenue, from Webster street to the Newton line, be laid out and constructed by said commissioners as a state highway. A hearing on the petition was granted and we hope for favorable action on the same.

During the year just past two additional street railway lines have been built and are now running cars into the center of the town. There have also been granted franchises to two new companies to build lines, viz: Medfield & Needham St. Railway Co., from Day's bridge through Chestnut street to South street; and Natick & Needham St. Railway Co. from Pierce bridge through Charles River street, South street and Chestnut street to Great Plain avenue. The building and operating of street railways in the streets of the town adds materially to the duties and responsibilities of the board of selectmen but we believe that there has thus far been less friction and trouble between the railway companies and the public than might have been expected, in view of the experience of other towns in like matters, and trust that the same favorable conditions may continue. The electric railway is a great convenience to the travelling public, but whether it will tend to the material prosperity of the town remains for the future to determine.

The details of the work of the year on streets, sidewalks and highways, are fully set forth in the report of the superintendent of streets hereto appended, and it only remains for us to say that we believe that the work has been well and economically done; that the results in each case justify the expense, and that the present good condition of our roads and streets can be maintained the coming year with a somewhat smaller appropriation than the last, for the reason that no very expensive reconstruction work seems to be called for at present.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

As acting board of health under the statute, the selectmen appointed George Twigg as agent of the board, who has attended to the routine work of the department, and investigated and reported upon all matters to which the attention of the board has been called, and his report is herewith submitted. The town is to be congratulated on its freedom from epidemic.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The fire department still maintains its excellent reputation for prompt and efficient service, and the thanks of the people are due to the officers and men for the readiness with which they respond to the call of duty. The report of the chief engineer shows the amount of service done.

POLICE.

The running of street cars into the town and the consequent gathering of travellers in the squares and streets on Sundays and holidays, made it necessary to add to the regular night police a Sunday service of one officer in each village, to maintain that quiet, good order which the people of the town have always enjoyed, and which they desire to continue. This extra service, not being foreseen when the appropriation was made, has caused a slight overdrawing of the account. The officers have acted with discretion and good order has prevailed.

STREET LIGHTS.

Lighting streets by electricity is an expensive luxury, but doubtless one which the people of Needham would be loath to forego. The constant demand for extension into all the streets and lanes of the town, has increased the expense to a sum that adds materially to the rate of taxation, and prudence should be observed in the further extension of lines. In order to reduce the nuisance of multiplied lines of poles in streets, an excess of expenditure on this account has been incurred, such desirable end seeming to the board to justify the outlay. A saving of expense of renewing poles will result and be realized.

OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

As overseers of the poor we have to report an increase of calls for relief, which we have endeavored to meet with due regard to the needs of the applicants and justice to the interests of the town. There has been no increase in the number of insane poor. One case cared for in the Newton hospital has been removed by death. At present there are three wards of the town in the Wellesley almshouse, where they receive good care, and one at a private house in Newton. Several others are partially supported in other towns under the direction of the overseers of such towns at our expense. Considerable aid has been rendered in the form of house rent in cases where the ability to earn is not equal to the demands upon it by dependents. The financial report of this department will show how and to whom aid has been rendered. We append hereto our estimate of appropriations necessary for the several departments under charge of the selectmen and overseers of the poor for the current year.

Report of Superintendent of Streets.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen of the Town of Needham :

GENTLEMEN : — I hereby submit the following report of the street department for year ending December 31, 1899.

Work commenced April 4, on South street, at the residence of David M. Livingston. The road-bed was filled with stone that was left on the sides of the streets after laying the water pipes as far as Greendale avenue. The stones were covered with gravel from the cellar of Charles A. Smith, and given by him. The work was continued to Great Plain avenue, a distance of more than three thousand feet, at an expense of $416.75.

Dedham avenue was surfaced from the pumping station to the foot of the hill beyond the residence of Albert H. Sutton. The gravel used was from Charles A. Smith's hill and George W. Colburn's pit, and given by them. The expense of repairing was $299.50.

Warren street, from Great Plain avenue to May street, was surfaced with small stone about ten inches in depth, and covered with good binding gravel, both carted from Hewett's pit. The street is more than twelve hundred feet long. The street was sprinkled with the water-cart, the water being taken from the hydrants, and rolled. The expense of constructing was $311.50.

Highland avenue, from Chapel street to May street, and from Joseph Willett's coal sheds to the residence of John F. Bowers, a distance of twenty-five hundred feet, was surfaced with crushed stone to the depth of six to eight inches, sprinkled with the street sprinkler, and rolled with a steam roller, then covered with binding gravel from Hewett's pit, and sprinkled and rolled again with steam roller.

Number of loads of crushed stone used, 467.

Number of loads of gravel used, 150.

Expense of sprinkling,	$ 49 50
“ rolling,	185 00
“ construction,	1,125 25
Total expense,	$1,359 75

The retaining wall, front of car barn, was built and filled to the full width of the street, the Newton and Boston Street Railway Company paying for the same, $143.

Retaining walls on both sides of Hunnewell street east of the bridge, built, filled and fenced, at an expense of:

Digging trenches for walls,	$23 50
Carting and cost of stone,	261 50
William G. Hart, laying and pointing walls, drilling and setting iron posts,	201 40
Filling back of walls and making sidewalk,	274 00
Franklin Low, labor and material for fence,	162 25
Total expense,	$922 65

Central avenue was repaired from Eaton's corner to the Jonathan Gay estate, a distance of fourteen hundred and fifty feet. Small stone was used to the depth of ten inches, and covered with gravel, both from Hewett's pit, at a cost of $337.75.

Chestnut street, south of High Rock street, for eight hundred feet, was covered with small stone to the depth of ten inches, given by Edmund G. Pond and Frank A. Townsend, and covered with gravel from Zirngiebel pit at a cost of $352.00. The material used in the repairing of this street being so easily obtained, made the expense less.

Central avenue, south of Charles River street, six hundred and fifty feet, was filled ten inches deep with small stone from the pit of Lewis N. Harmon on South street; then from the residence of Charles H. Harmon, to the Walker Gordon estate, a distance of eight hundred feet, was surfaced with screenings and crushed stone from Hewett's pit, and covered with three hundred and twenty-seven loads of gravel from Charlie S. Pierce's pit on Charles River street, at a cost of $475.20.

Garden street, more than ten hundred feet long, was surfaced with gravel from Zirngiebel's pit at a cost of $252.50.

Great Plain avenue, from John Newbury's to the residence of Geo. H. Gay, was surfaced for a distance of more than eleven hundred feet, the stone and gravel being taken from the town pit on the Colburn farm, at an expense of $175.00.

For West street hill the question of paved gutters was considered by the selectmen, and it was thought that when possible, it was economy in the long run to put in concrete gutters rather than cobble stone for paving, although the first cost was somewhat greater. The cobble stones wash out in time and need frequent resetting. Then the weeds grow up rapidly among the cobbles, and unless they are removed they cause obstruction to leaves, etc., and the gutter clogs up. The work of cleaning out the weeds is slow, very tiresome, and not at all satisfactory. On the other hand, the concrete gutters wear well and are always clear of weeds and easy to clean. I would draw attention to this fact, and advise the more frequent use of tar concrete for gutters than has hitherto been the practice, for I think that it would be a matter of economy.

The bank in front of George C. McIntosh's on Great Plain avenue was loamed and sodded, the material being taken from near the Zirngiebel pit, at a cost of $93.50.

In Chestnut street, on the west side, according to the survey of W. W. White, Akron pipes one foot in diameter were laid, and catch basins made at the crossings of streets and driveways; the pipes laid a distance of more than twenty-five hundred feet (2,500), or from Great Plain avenue to the culvert which crosses the street. Digging the trench, laying the pipe and putting in catch basins, cost $363.25.

STATIONS.

Stations one and two have been shingled, painted, and other needed repairs made, and now present a decided improvement upon the exterior of the buildings.

APPARATUS.

The apparatus is in good repair, and consists of the same number of pieces as last report, the only change being a set of swing harness, and a few minor improvements for the ladder truck. The hose wagons were furnished with poles for two horses in the winter season.

NEEDED APPARATUS.

In behalf of the citizens of the Greendale district, I take the liberty at this time to call attention to, and recommend that some piece of apparatus be placed in that district, especially in consideration of the large increase of taxable property in new dwelling houses of recent construction, including also the electric light plant of the Greendale.

Chemical Company, and that the nearest piece of apparatus is something like two miles distant, making a long run, which would cause a fire to gain great headway before the apparatus could reach that locality; neither can the citizens get any reduction from the high rate of insurance, as the insurance people claim they have no protection whatever. If any piece of apparatus is to be located there, I would recommend a heavier wagon to take the place of Hose No. 1, and transfer the present wagon to that district, thus supplying two wants at the same time.

I would also recommend that the signal station in that district be moved to the junction of Great Plain avenue and South street, or a new one located at the corner of Great Plain avenue and Greendale avenue; also one to be located in the vicinity of the new High School building.

HOSE.

There are four thousand four hundred and fifty feet (4,450) of cotton jacket hose in the department, one hundred feet (100) less than last year. In consideration of there being one thousand seven hundred feet (1,700) of hose purchased in 1891, some of which is not reliable, I would recommend the purchase of one thousand feet (1,000). The schedule of hose will show the condition, when purchased and when located.

SCHEDULE OF HOSE.

Location.	Kind.	When Purchased.	Condition.
Station 1,	250 feet cotton,	1897,	First Class.
Station 1,	250 feet cotton,	1895,	First Class.

Station 3,	500 feet cotton,	1893,	Good.
Station 3,	200 feet cotton,	1891,	Good.
Grove Street,	500 feet cotton,	1885,	Not Reliable.

Total, 4,450 feet.

HYDRANTS.

The number of hydrants in service January 1, 1899, two hundred and twenty (220), three (3) being added since, making two hundred and twenty-three (223) in service at the present time.

In closing, I desire to thank the officers and members of this department, also the employees of the electrical department for their faithfulness to duty at all times. To the Honorable Board of Selectmen, and in fact to the heads of all departments, for their generous support, I extend many thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

H. A. KINGSBURY,

Chief of Fire Department.

Fire Alarm Telegraph.

This department was obliged to make a number of changes this year, one of which was on account of the Natick & Cochituate railway on Great Plain avenue having to remove the line wires and three (3) signal stations on to the new poles, as the old poles were to be removed.

The old wire on the steam railroad poles was removed from Needham to Highlandville, most of which was rusted and worn out, as mentioned in last year's report. It was deemed advisable to run the new wire on Webster st. from High to Great Plain avenue, down Great Plain avenue to Chestnut, to fire alarm headquarters. By so running it will give an opportunity to locate signal stations along the line at any time at a small cost. Signal station No. 26 has been connected into the No. 1 circuit, which was formerly on No. 2 circuit, and the line wire removed from Dedham avenue to Great Plain avenue to avoid crossing the trolley wire. These changes were made with the idea to divide No. 1 circuit at some future time.

The amount of new wire run this year was two and one-quarter (2 1-4) miles, leaving about the same amount as was in this system in last year's report.

I wish to renew the recommendation of last report, of the adoption of storage battery, thinking it will be a great saving to the town after being installed into the fire alarm system, instead of the old gravity system.

The number of strikers, gongs, tappers and appliances, are the same as shown by last report, nothing new having been added.

The line wires have been removed where circumstances would allow, so as not to cross over the trolley wires of the street railway. There are alterations which should be attended to another year on No. 2 and No. 3 circuits. I would advise that the line wires on No. 3 circuit be removed from steam railroad poles, and run up South st.; the distance is not so long, and the expense of keeping in repair would be less.

Respectfully submitted,

H. A. KINGSBURY,
Superintendent of Fire Alarm.

Respectfully submitted for the Committee,

ADELINE E. HARRIS,

Report of the School Committee.

The school committee respectfully submit their annual report, together with that of the superintendent, for the financial year ending December 31, 1899.

The committee were not so fortunate during the year now closed, as in the year before, in retaining the services of all the teachers throughout the year. A change of teachers is to be deplored.

But the situation of our town, so near towns and cities which can pay so much larger salaries renders it very difficult for us to keep first-class teachers very long in our employ. Though the committee has desired to keep such teachers by an increase of salary, yet the increase demanded has been larger, in the judgment of the committee, than the town could afford to pay. And, furthermore, had the increase been made, it would have necessitated a like raise of salary for every other teacher in the town of the same grade. The increase in the pay of the teachers during the year has been about $300, nearly all being for the teachers of the high and grammar schools. But in spite of the disadvantages to the schools from changes in the teaching force, the committee have been so fortunate in the new teachers that the efficiency of the corps has suffered but little.

The committee realize the great importance of having as good teachers in the lowest grades as in the highest, that a good foundation may be laid to build upon in the later development. In this connection we point with pride to the fact that there are at present fifteen of our graduates attending various colleges, and we feel sure our citizens will recognize the great impulse for good this must have upon our educational interests.

The expense for educating children has increased from 10 to 20 per cent. throughout the state, and our town is not an exception. The increase seems to be imperative, if we would keep pace with the remarkable educational progress of our times.

It means better teachers with larger salaries; better methods of heating and ventilating school-rooms, with larger expenditure for fuel; more and better working materials for the pupils, together with books and other supplies which are more varied and expensive.

For appropriations for the year 1900, the committee recommend $15,500 for schools, including the salary of the superintendent; $900 for incidentals; and $1,100 for books and supplies. We need also $100 for painting and repairs of the Parker building.

We call the attention of the town to the fact that the High school has no piano; that no appropriation has been made for manual training and sewing for the higher grades of our schools.

Owing to its increased valuation the town no longer receives any part of the State School Fund. In years past this has amounted to from $200 to $300.

During the past year the town has received $385.70 for tuition of non-resident pupils, part of it being the tuition of pupils from Dover and Medfield attending the High school, and the rest, $184.80, from the city of Boston for children of the City Mission school, called "City Wards."

The thanks of the town are due to Mr. Winthrop A. Gates for a donation of shubbery for the High school grounds.

For further information in regard to the schools, we refer the citizens to the report of the superintendent.

Report of the Superintendent.

To the School Committee of Needham :

The hunter directs his bullet toward the distant mark. The runner keeps his eye upon the goal. The giant steamer on the ocean highway heads toward its chosen harbor. In like manner the public schools should have a definite end. This definite end is happily expressed in the words of Edward Everett Hale:

“Colleges and schools,” he says, “exist for education and not simply for the petty details of instruction. To make of them mere information bureaus is to degrade them. We have no use for them unless they can make men out of boys and women out of girls. This means character. It means that first of all, boys and girls, young men and young women, shall know who they are, why they are and what they live for. They are to know that they are in a world where each lives for all and all for each.”

Those who best know the work of the Needham public schools see evidences that we have not lost sight of the goal so aptly pointed out by the eminent writer. Pilots differ in their ability to hold the vessel to its course. Teachers sometimes lose their bearings. It can fairly be said of our schools, as a whole, however, that they have risen above the plane of “information bureaus"; that they are making "men out of boys and women out of girls"; that they are developing character.

CHANGES OF TEACHERS.

Since the publication of the last annual report, several changes in the corps of teachers have been made. The Avery School is the scene of the greatest change, the principal, two assistant teachers and one substitute having begun their services at the opening of the present school year. The Eliot is in charge of a newly-appointed principal, and one change of assistants has been made at the Kimball. The school year also opened with a new supervisor of drawing. In the other schools no change of teachers has been made.

Adequately trained teachers of successful experience are in demand at salaries higher than are paid in this town. We are fortunate in retaining the services of teachers whose home interests bind them to Needham. We have also been able, by painstaking selection, to secure for a year or more the services of growing teachers whose work has led to their advancement to better positions in other towns. Some consolation for the withdrawal of such teachers arises from the thought that school committees in search of good teachers can find them in Needham. But whenever a competent teacher resigns, our schools suffer a great loss. Her successor, however efficient she may be, cannot do her best work until well acquainted with her surroundings. Hence frequent changes of teachers are to be deplored and avoided.

In only one instance, during the past year, has a change been due to the offer of a higher salary elsewhere. The important part played by matrimony would hardly have been averted by the seductive influence of higher salaries. But the experience of recent years shows that the services of fully equipped teachers are receiving increasing remuneration. Hence the query naturally arises: Is the time not at hand, or at least rapidly approaching, when, for the protection of our own schools, an effort must be made to meet, in a measure, the competition of other towns for the best teachers?

COMPULSORY VACCINATION.

During the year it was ascertained that a considerable number of unvaccinated children were attending the schools. By the law of the State the committee could not allow these children to remain in school. Hasty or inconsiderate action was undesirable. It is a pleasure to report that the temperate action of the committee was followed by compliance on the part of parents, and that the town is now conforming to the law of the State. For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the law, the exact language of the statute is here presented.

Acts of 1898, Chapter 496.

Sec. 11. No child who has not been duly vaccinated shall be admitted to a public school except upon presentation of a certificate signed by a regular practising physician that such child is an unfit subject for vaccination.

It is hoped that hereafter by careful attention of principals of schools, no child will be admitted to the schools contrary to the provisions of the law.

A FORWARD STEP.

Under the caption "A Good Beginning" the last annual report spoke of the pictures and statuary that had been generously provided for the High School and expressed the hope that not one of our seven schoolhouses would be forgotten "in the distribution of the good things that speak for the highest culture." Another step forward has been taken. Thanks to the energy of the principal of the Kimball School and the hearty co-operation of her pupils, that school has received a considerable addition to its aesthetic equipment.

Messrs. Dunn, Titus and Carter, three friends of the public schools, have also made additions to the schoolroom decorations. It is proper that such evidences of public spirit should receive recognition in this report.

We may reasonably expect that other schools will be duly favored, if their needs are duly brought to the attention of cultured people. Every good movement comes from some person with sufficient zeal to take the initiative. May the good work of schoolroom decoration continue until in every room, during the thirteen years of his progress through our schools, every child shall see thoughtfully selected objects that shall bring his soul into living union with the highest ideals embodied in the noblest creations of art.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

A perusal of school reports shows that the movement for establishing school savings banks has made considerable progress. Children are encouraged to save a portion of the money that would otherwise be spent for useless and harmful indulgences. Teachers receive the money from the children and pass it to a responsible person who deposits in a savings bank each child's money whenever it has reached a sufficient amount. Some children save enough to pay their share of the expenses incidental to graduation. Some provide a fund for the purchase of Christmas gifts. Others contribute from their savings toward the cost of a book for the school library or a new picture for their schoolroom. These illustrations indicate that the essential idea of the movement is to use the schools as a medium for developing thrifty habits to take the place of the selfish and oftentimes harmful expenditure of whatever money comes into a child's possession. To simplify the work of the teacher and to guard against error, the school children of Springfield buy of their teachers stamps of various denominations which are pasted to cards with which each child is provided. Parents and children would doubtless welcome the introduction of a judicious system of school savings in our own town.

RENEWED RECOMMENDATIONS.

In previous reports the introduction of Latin in the ninth grade and of manual training in our schools has been urged. To devote considerable space to the subject in this report might be superfluous and the arguments might become wearisome. Silence might, however, be construed to indicate an abandonment of the hope that these innovations will come. The reasons for them are well known. The results may be learned by observation or inquiry in many places not far distant. When these additions to the opportunities of the children of Needham shall have been made, the wonder will be that they were so long delayed. Your further consideration of the subject is respectfully invited.

READING.

Under the Pollard system our schools have made progress in reading. Experience, however, has justified objections that have been made against its tardy introduction of the children to actual reading. Results fail to warrant the claim that this tardy introduction prepares the way for compensating rapidity in learning to read a year or two later. Yet the unquestioned merits of the Pollard system are too great to be sacrificed. With your sanction our schools are endeavoring to retain the advantages of the Pollard method but are modifying the instruction in an endeavor to obviate its chief disadvantage. One teacher recently reported that her pupils were acquiring phonic knowledge no less rapidly than heretofore, and that they were also reading with a vocabulary much larger than could possibly be developed in so short a time by the unmodified Pollard. The change of method is not radical, the teachers have readily adapted themselves to it, and the present gratifying results give hopeful promise for the future.

We must not, however, expect too much of any "method." The chief requisites for good reading are a good teacher, an intelligent child and subject-matter within the child's comprehension. A highly intelligent child learns to read almost everything under almost any method and with almost any teacher. Some children are so dull that no method, no subject matter, no teacher can produce satisfactory results. Most children, however, are classified between the highly intelligent and the very dull. We must take the children as we find them. We cannot change them, but by skilful teaching we can develop them on natural lines. Upon committee and superintendent therefore, falls the responsibility of providing for every school a good teacher and suitable subject-matter with the "method" that in their judgment seems to conform to the best pedagogical standards.

PHYSIOLOGY AND TEMPERANCE.

An unsuccessful effort was made last year for more stringent legislation regarding the teaching of physiology and hygiene with especial reference to the use of alcohol and narcotics. The effort was due to a well-grounded belief that in many schools the existing law was nearly a dead letter. Although the law has been generally observed by our own teachers, it was thought best at the opening of the present school year to give explicit directions regarding the application of the law. It is believed that in Needham schools, at least, neither neglect nor indiscreet zeal is injuring the cause of temperance to which the law of the State is already committed.

Teachers can best serve this cause by reaching both the intellect and the souls of children. A man may have full knowledge of the bodily injury wrought by alcohol and narcotics and indulge in the use of both. A boy may receive the most careful moral training and from ignorance of physiology and hygiene venture upon the risky experiment of tampering with stimulants and narcotics. Preaching, brilliant rhetoric, inflamed denunciation, pictures of diseased stomachs and hobnailed livers, cannot be relied upon to make a generation of abstainers. Possibly each of these has a limited place in the public schools; but the teacher who does the best work is the teacher who wisely adapts it to the nature of the children. He gives them a suitable knowledge of their own bodies and prudent instruction for preserving them in a state of health and purity. He also impresses his own personality upon the children and makes himself an ideal model gladly imitated by the children. The public school alone cannot banish the curse of alcohol and narcotics; but it has been, is now, and ever will be a powerful ally to the other forces which are perceptibly diminishing the evils of those great foes to the human race.

A GROWING BELIEF.

Indications point to the eventual banishment of arithmetic from the formal instruction of children during their first school year. Incidentally, during the year, children may acquire considerable mathematical knowledge. But the suspicion that number work in primary schools has been greatly overdone is developing into a confirmed belief. In one city, at least, number work is omitted in the first grade, on the ground that in that grade only children of more than ordinary intelligence gain by it and on the theory that a year or two later more number work can be accomplished in less time. So radical an innovation might meet with disfavor in our conservative community, and we have not excluded number work from the first grade. But our experience shows that less time given to numbers has made no perceptible difference in the children's progress. Even under the most diligent forcing children's minds cannot grasp number combinations rapidly. Parents who worship arithmetic as a fetich will do well to remember that nature demands time to do her perfect work. Children acquire mathematical alertness more satisfactorily as a part of general intellectual growth than by persistent forcing and cramming. Language, including reading the thoughts of others and expressing their own thoughts, should occupy most of the children's school hours in the first grade. The first grade teacher should emphasize work that tends toward culture. Exercises that awaken the child's vivid imagination and his alert powers of observation should be prominent. In vain efforts to force his more slowly developing powers of reasoning, neither her time nor his should be wasted. Arithmetic, however, still holds so important a place in the public mind that we run little risk of rashly or unduly postponing its consideration. But we must not ignore the fact that greatly to the advantage of the child it is being pulled down from its lofty pedestal.

A MISTAKEN EDITOR.

A prominent journal recently attacked the public school system for its alleged "infernal cramming system" whereby in five cities the nervous systems of more than sixteen thousand children are said to have been "wrecked." The children themselves are alluded to as "helpless little wrecks." It cannot be alleged that the children of our town are in so woful a condition. The average Needham boy knows how to protect himself from the wrecking process and his sister is not wholly deficient in this respect. Furthermore, no such "infernal cramming system" can be found here. Two years ago an able superintendent issued a circular of inquiry to parents. Only five per cent. of the children were reported as overworked. The parents of more than fifty per cent. of the children reported that they would like to have more home work assigned to the children in order that they might make more rapid progress. He summed up his report of his investigation as follows:

"The course of study in our schools is so graded that there is no good reason why a child of ordinary ability, of fairly good health, if he is not very irregular in attendance, should not be able to go through the schools and be promoted regularly from year to year without any injury whatever to his health from overwork."

The same can be said of the schools of Needham. If this mistaken editor could visit the homes and learn the habits of the sixteen thousand "helpless little wrecks," he would have more knowledge of the cause of their hapless condition. He would find late hours, unhygienic diet, sweetmeats, coffee, cigarettes, social frivolity, outside lessons and practice in music, dancing lessons, want of exercise in the open air, careless exposure in inclement weather, excessive reading of sensational literature, among the potent causes of the evil which he laments. Eliminating the "wrecks" traceable to these causes, he would find few, if any, martyrs of the "infernal cramming system" which his vivid imagination has created. Parents who give proper attention to the diet, habits and occupations of their children, find that our schools help to develop symmetrical manhood and womanhood. When all parents give such attention, editors will have fewer opportunities to enjoy themselves in counting "helpless little wrecks."

ADDITIONAL DRAWING.

A year ago your attention was called to the importance of adding drawing to the curriculum of the High School. Upon the election of a new supervisor of drawing, provision was made for her employment in that school. The advantages of such employment far exceed the small additional expense involved and it is reasonable to hope that the innovation will become a permanent feature of the High School.

A GREAT RESPONSIBILITY.

The people of Massachusetts demand schools of a high order and willingly pay the inevitable cost of such schools. A great responsibility rests upon those who administer school affairs. A considerable portion of this responsibility has been transferred to salaried superintendents. The duties of a superintendent are complex and his powers are not clearly defined. He must retain the confidence of the School Committee, because the people hold them responsible for his work. He must please the people, because no committee will long sustain an unpopular superintendent. He must be respected and trusted by the teachers, because the value of their work depends largely upon their willing co-operation with him. Even the children come sufficiently into contact with him to make it important that he should inspire them with respect and admiration for him. He must exercise power with caution, because the scope of his authority has not been clearly defined. His caution must fall short of timidity, however, lest he become irresolute and devoid of executive ability. His best work is usually his least observed work, but his blunders seldom fail to come to light. This cursory glance at the superintendent's position throws a little light upon the frequent changes that have occurred in Massachusetts. Men are endeavoring to work out the problem of the superintendent's relation to the school system. With its solution they hope to put the tenure of efficient superintendents upon a more secure basis.

In Needham, the present superintendent receives the co-operation of the committee, the teachers and other persons with whom he has official relations. No one unfamiliar with the daily experience of a superintendent can realize the multitude of details that demand his attention. If he attends to these details with zeal, with patience, with firmness, with tact, he contributes much towards a frictionless progress of the schools. If he errs in a single particular, he may occasion great evil to the schools. Deeply conscious of his responsibility and often apprehensive of falling short of his opportunities, your superintendent has endeavored to contribute to the well-being of the schools. The exact result of his efforts cannot be measured; but the result of the combined efforts of committee, superintendent, teachers, parents, pupils and other persons may be seen in the prosperity of the schools at the moment of writing this paragraph.

CONCLUSION.

The glory of the public school system is its fundamental unselfishness. The men who ungrudgingly contribute the largest sums toward its maintenance are not the men who contribute the largest number of children to its membership. From a narrow view of life, the man of wealth would prefer the less expensive method of paying tuition for his own children while the children of his neighbor grew up in ignorance. From a broad and unselfish view of his relation to human society, however, he cheerfully votes in town meeting for the heavy appropriations toward which, through the medium of public taxation, he must largely contribute. The millennium may indeed be far distant, but one of the lessons taught by the public schools is the brotherhood of man; and when this brotherhood is universally acknowledged and exemplified, the dawn of the millennium will certainly be near at hand.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY M. WALRADT,

Superintendent of Schools.

Water Department Commissioners.

FREDERIC G. TUTTLE, Chairman, term expires, 1901

EDMUND G. POND. term expires, 1902

JOHN M. HODGE (resigned July 8), term expires, 1900

Clerk :

GEORGE A. ADAMS.

Superintendent and Registrar :

GEORGE A. ADAMS.

Engineer at Pumping Station :

CHARLES H. MITCHELL.

Regular Meeting of the Board :

2d and 4th Thursday in each month, at 7.30 p. m.

Tenth Annual Report of the Water Commissioners.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Needham, Massachusetts :

The board of water commissioners herewith submit their tenth annual report, for the year ending December 31, 1899.

At the annual town meeting in March, Mr. Edmund G. Pond was re-elected water commissioner for three years.

The board organized by electing Mr. Frederic G. Tuttle chairman and appointing George A. Adams clerk.

On July 8th Mr. John M. Hodge resigned as water commissioner, after holding the position continuously from the establishment of the works in 1890. In the resignation of Mr. Hodge the town loses a faithful and conscientious officer, one who believed and practiced economy in the transaction of public affairs, so far as consistent with good service.

EXTENSIONS.

The water main has been extended in Great Plain avenue from Greendale avenue to the residence of Mrs. Catharine Glancy, 965.5 feet of 6-inch.

In Central avenue, from Great Plain avenue to the residence of Mr. Norman W. Clark, 510.0 feet of 6-inch.

These extensions were made under a ten-year guarantee of 6 per centum per annum on the cost of construction.

The suction pipe has been extended from a point on the old suction, 483.5 feet of 12-inch, to location of proposed new well.

PIPE.

The contract for furnishing pipe and specials was awarded to R. D. Wood & Co., of Philadelphia, at the following prices; $27.50 per 2240 pounds for 6-inch, $26.50 per 2000 pounds for 12-inch and $2.75 per cwt. for specials.

PIPE LAYING.

The contract for laying 6-inch main was awarded to Mr. Joseph Bruno at 24 cents per foot.

The suction pipe contract was awarded to Bruno & Salomone of East Boston, at $1.95 per foot.

SERVICE PIPES.

The contract with Buckley Brothers for laying service pipes expired in September, and owing to the advance in the price of material, we have been unable to have it renewed; and, unless there is a decided drop in the price of material, the schedule of prices for laying service pipe will have to be increased next year.

COLBURN PROPERTY.

A statement was made in our last report that we had purchased the entire Colburn property for twelve thousand dollars, which would be transferred as soon as the necessary papers could be prepared. Since then the title has been examined and found to be all right, and the formal transfer was made on May 9.

An ell has been added to the Colburn house, and other alterations and improvements made to put it in condition for a residence for the engineer of the pumping station, and Mr. Mitchell moved into the house in November.

WATER SUPPLY.

The dry weather throughout the year lowered the springs to such an extent that this department, like many others through the state, was obliged to seek temporary relief, and in getting this relief we have advanced a plan to obtain a permanent increase in our supply. On May 3 we asked the co-operation of the state board of health, as will be seen by the communication herewith submitted, and the plans decided upon and later carried into operation were as follows:

Six wells were sunk by driving 2½-inch pipe to an average depth of about 30 feet. These wells were driven around the location of the proposed well, and with two others that were driven in 1898 were connected with a temporary pumping plant. The water is forced through an 8-inch main (which is laid on the surface) across the valley into the present well. The pumping plant consists of two Blake pumps, each having a capacity of 19,000 gallons per hour, and an upright boiler of sufficient horsepower and so connected that either one or both pumps may be used as the case may require. The whole arrangement is so planned that when the condition of the springs will warrant, the excavation for the proposed well can be made within the circle of driven wells, and the water table kept down with the pumping plant and at the same time utilize the water which otherwise would be wasted. The plant has been in operation every day since the 2d of August, and the result has been extremely satisfactory.

A 12-inch suction pipe has been laid from the suction pipe of Well No. 1 to the location of the proposed well, and as soon as conditions are favorable the new well will be dug and connected with the same.

NEEDHAM, MASS., May 3, 1899.

To the State Board of Health, Room 141, State House, Boston :

Acting under the authority of Chapter 375 of the Acts of 1888, we hereby give notice of our intention to add to a system of water supply in the town of Needham, Mass., and hereby submit our proposed plan, amended for your advice and co-operation in establishing the same.

Respectfully yours,

NEEDHAM WATER BOARD.

By FREDERIC G. TUTTLE, Chairman.

Plan submitted is as follows :

Referring to our communication to the State Board of Health under date of Sept. 22, 1898, and the plans submitted later, the Needham Water Board still adhere to the plans therein proposed for adding to the water supply, with this exception.

We would suggest that the proposed new supply well be sunk to the east of the present well some 300 feet, and in the vicinity of the test wells Nos. 20 and 26. These two wells show a much larger flowage than any of the other test wells which were sunk during our investigations, and it seems expedient to the board to locate the new well in close proximity thereto, provided the analyses of the water made by your board prove satisfactory and the location meets with your approval. We also propose the construction of a storage basin in accordance with the plans submitted last fall.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, June 14, 1899.

To the Needham Water Board, Frederic G. Tuttle, Chairman :

GENTLEMEN: The State Board of Health received from you on May 4, 1899, an application for advice with reference to proposed plans for increasing the water supply of the town of Needham, in which you state that you propose to construct another large well east of your present well, in the vicinity of test wells Nos. 20 and 26, shown upon the plan submitted with your application. Subsequently, the results of tests of the ground by means of tubular wells located in the region in which it is proposed to construct the new well were submitted, showing the character of the soil and the approximate yield of the wells when pumping with a hand pump. You state also that you propose to construct a storage basin upon Bird's Hill brook, by means of a dam across the brook near the pumping station, as proposed in your plan submitted last year.

The board has considered the plans and information submitted, and has caused the locality to be examined by its engineer, and samples of water collected from time to time since your investigations were begun from several of the test wells to be analyzed.

The result of the analyses of samples of water collected from these wells in the latter part of 1898 indicated that the water of some of the wells had been highly polluted, but subsequently completely purified in its passage through the ground to the wells.

Examinations of additional samples of water from the wells in April and May of this year showed that the previous pollution of the water was considerably less than at the time the samples were collected last year, and that the quality of the water had improved.

The cause of the pollution of the water has not been definitely determined, but it is apparently due to the presence for a long period of a large piggery, and a large amount of polluting matter upon higher land east of the wells. It is understood that the pollution from this source has been to a large extent prevented, but it should be completely removed from the neighborhood if water is taken for the supply of the town from the proposed source. The water in its present state is well purified and of good quality, and it is not greatly different from that of your present source of supply.

Whether it will improve further or deteriorate when a large quantity of water is drawn from the ground cannot be predicted with certainty, but the present indications are that if the source of pollution referred to is removed the water will remain satisfactory for drinking and other domestic uses.

The soil at the place where the test wells are located is coarse and porous to a considerable depth below the surface of the ground, and water could be drawn from the wells in large quantities with much freedom, and the soil in the vicinity of the wells appears also to be very coarse and porous, but observations upon the height of water in the test wells show that the height of the ground water in their vicinity is already affected somewhat by pumping from the present well, and the area of the water shed which will be tributary to both wells is small. Nevertheless, the lowering of the ground water that would be caused by pumping from a well at the place now proposed would probably make available a much larger portion of the water stored in the ground than is made available by pumping from the present well, and the area of territory from which ground water is influenced to flow toward the wells would probably be extended considerably beyond the limits that are affected by pumping from the present well. While the indications are that a large addition to your present supply of water can be obtained by the construction of the proposed new well; and while the yield of the wells might then be sufficient for the present needs of the town in a very dry season, the yield is hardly likely at the present rate of increase in the use of water in Needham to be sufficient for the supply of the town for any considerable time in the future, and a supply from a new source is likely to be required. An additional supply of water is, however, urgently needed at the present time, and, so far as is now known, the most practicable way of obtaining such a supply is to take water from the ground at the place proposed in your application, and under the circumstances the board is of opinion that it is advisable to construct works without delay for taking an additional supply of water from the ground in that vicinity. On account of the very low rainfall in the months of April and May of the present year, and the indications that the yield of your present works may become insufficient for the supply of the town considerably before the end of the present year, it is probable that if the construction of the proposed well should be begun at the present time the necessary pumping at the excavation would still further reduce the yield of your present source, and the water pumped from the excavation would not be suitable to supply to the town. It appears to be feasible to connect some of the test wells already driven near the site of the proposed well to a pump, and to pump water from them through a temporary force main into your present well, and in this way to obtain a large increase in your supply to meet the present emergency; but it is not desirable to employ a large force of men in the construction of a well near any of the test wells while the water is being used for the supply of the town.

Under the circumstances, the Board would advise that you provide a pump and construct such temporary works as may be necessary for pumping water from the present test well, and such additional wells as may be found desirable, into your present well, and at the same time cause samples of the water to be collected for analysis, to learn what changes, if any, take place in its quality.

If the water remains satisfactory, the construction of a large well can be begun at such time as it may be found desirable to do so, and much additional information will have been obtained as to the probable yield of the works, and the quality of the water. The Board will cause the water to be examined at such times as may be necessary or desirable, if you will collect the samples.

Regarding the plan of constructing a basin near the pumping station, the Board is of the opinion that it is doubtful whether, even if a large proportion of the water collected by the basin in the dryer portion of the year should enter the ground and reach the wells, a material increase would be obtained in the yield of the wells; but it is understood that it is desired to construct the basin in part for ornamental purposes, and since it is not likely that the presence of the proposed basin will affect the quality of the water of the wells as now located, there appears to be no serious objection to the carrying out of this portion of the plan. The basin would not be a proper source from which to draw water directly for supplying the town.

By order of the Board,

SAMUEL W. ABBOTT,

Secretary.

All waters containing suspended matter, excepting ground waters which contain a large quantity of iron, are filtered through filter paper, before determining the color and residue on evaporation. Occasionally these determinations are also made on the unfiltered water, the results in such cases being indicated by an asterisk.

Report of the Trustees of the Free Public Library.

The library has now been for upwards of a year in its new and comfortable rooms, and the change from the cramped quarters in the May building is generally appreciated by the public.

During the year our librarian has devoted much time outside of the regular library hours to the work of extending our card catalogue system, and has made considerable progress. We have thus escaped the large expense attendant upon the employment of a professional cataloguer. Our collection of pictures has been temporarily increased by the loan from Mr. Daniel W. Richards of fourteen valuable oil paintings and engravings, which add much to the attractiveness of our reading-room.

Although most of the books purchased are of a popular character, the trustees have thought it best to buy a few town histories each year, because such books often become scarce and command high prices. We obtain them while they are in the market, and pay three or four dollars each, sometimes less. One volume which we have had for years is out of print, and a copy has recently been sold at auction for twenty-two dollars. If we wait until these histories become costly we may never possess them, and it seems a wise investment to buy those that we ought to have in the future when we can get them.

The only genealogy that we have bought is the "Fisher Genealogy," which contains an account of one of the most prominent families of Needham in the past.

In the summer we had a supplement to our catalogue printed, and it has been a convenience to our readers.

The trustees are gratified by the usefulness and efficiency of the library, and recognize the important service rendered our town by its librarian.

GEORGE K. CLARKE,

In addition to the gifts already mentioned, the library has received from Mr. Francis S. Harrington a set of unbound Harper's Magazines from 1856 to 1863. By gift and purchase the library has nearly completed a set of these magazines.

It is desirable as far as possible to have full sets of the leading magazines, and any one having volumes of magazines which they would be willing to part with might help in the completion of these sets. Exhibitions of art are now becoming a part of library work, and the Needham Library has been very fortunate in this respect. In addition to the fine collection of paintings loaned last year by Miss Helen M. Knowlton, artist, we have received this year from Mr. Daniel W. Richards a loan of a valuable collection of paintings, etchings, etc. Among the paintings are two by J. Appleton Brown, one of our noted American landscape painters, who is compared by some critics to Dupre. Such loans are of great benefit to the town, and will be an aid in forming the artistic tastes of the young people. It should be mentioned in this connection that the library has received some permanent gifts in the art line. Mrs. F. L. Carter has presented the library a picture of the Ducal Palace, Venice; Mr. F. de M. Dunn, "The Departure of the Mayflower," by ———, and the "Ladies' Whist Club," "The Shepherdess and Flock," by Lerolle. It is hoped that this small beginning will be added to from year to year.

Report of Special Committee.

The committee appointed at the last annual town meeting to consider the expediency of establishing a town farm for the care of the poor of the town of Needham, after a careful investigation of the subject deem it unwise for the town of Needham to maintain a town farm at present. With the existing arrangements with the town of Wellesley, your committee is of the opinion that it will cost much less to continue to care for those that need help, as we have for the past few years, than it would to support a town farm.

The ballot box furnished by the commonwealth for use at elections was publicly opened by the moderator and shown to be empty.

The box was then locked and the key given to William Wragg, the officer in attendance at the polls.

The polls were opened at forty-eight minutes past six o'clock in the forenoon, and were kept open until forty minutes past five o'clock in the afternoon, when, as the meeting had previously voted, they were closed.

Report of the Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Needham:

A brief review of the work of the year in the several departments of town service under our charge as Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, and Board Health, together with one or two recommendations for future action, is all that seems necessary to present in connection with the report of the expenditures for past twelve months.

STREETS, HIGHWAYS AND BRIDGES.

The same policy that has prevailed for the past years in this town has been pursued in regard to repairs of streets and highways, namely to keep all ways in seasonable repair for public travel and to improve some portion of the roads subject to the largest traffic as far as our means will permit, up to the standard of good roads as set by the Massachusetts Highway Commission. We believe some good work has been done the past year in that line, and more remains to be done before we can say that all our roads are as good as we desire. Our experience with the concrete gutter on West street hill which was constructed in 1899 has been so satisfactory that it seemed in the interest of true economy to use a part of the appropriation for highways in the construction of such gutters in other places. Accordingly concrete gutters have been put in at the hill on Reservoir street and Central avenue, at Upper Falls, Hunnewell street at the descent to Central avenue, and Highland avenue from Rosemary street to the car barn. We believe these will demonstrate that such treatment of gutters will result in a great saving of expense in repairs to the roadway in future years. The County Commissioners having relocated and widened South street from Chestnut street to Charles River street and Charles River street from South street to the railroad crossing. A location was given the Natick and Needham Street Railway Company through said streets, and Chestnut street to Great Plain avenue under a franchise previously granted.

The location of the track in South street is as far as possible on the land taken to widen the highway and we have endeavored to have the additional width of the traveled way as well as that occupied by the track graded and constructed without cost to the town. The widening of South street is a great improvement and will be appreciated more and more as the town develops in that direction.

BRIDGES.

Incidental to the construction of the trestle to carry the tracks of the street railway company over the river at Pierce's bridge, examination of the town bridge disclosed the fact that it was in immediate need of repairs by reason of the decay of the supports and braces which rested on mudsills, and while in the opinion of the board it might, perhaps, be strengthened by temporary braces for a year or two, it would not be long before it would have to be entirely rebuilt. The temporary repairs would cost a considerable sum in any event. Accordingly after conference with the Selectmen of Dover it was decided to be expedient to take advantage of the circumstance of the pile driving machinery and derrick of the contractor for the railway company being on the ground and reconstruct the bridge on chestnut piles driven through the mud to hard gravel. The work has been done and we believe at a considerable saving of expense from what it would be if the work had been deferred further.

Dedham avenue bridge will need replanking during the coming season and should be thoroughly inspected by a competent man to test its condition and indicate what, if anything, is necessary to be done to preserve the efficiency of the structure.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

That portion of Great Plain avenue known as the Long Causeway is in need of thorough repair and should receive attention this year. Work on this part of the road has been put off from year to year until its condition is such as to demand a considerable outlay for a long distance. Great Plain avenue from Central avenue to the house of Mr. Whitney, needs re-surfacing immediately. These, with other instances very apparent but not necessary to name, indicate that the proper care of our streets, roads and bridges will require for the present, no less a sum than has been expended the last year.

Believing it to be for the interest of the town, your Selectmen petitioned the State Highway Commission to lay out that part of Highland avenue between the bridge on the river and Webster street as a state highway. A public hearing was given by the Commission and we hope for favorable action in the case. For details of the work of the highway department we refer to the report of the superintendent of streets herewith submitted.

POLICE.

The expense of this department has increased to some extent but is not in excess of that of other towns, while the peace of the streets and general good order of the town testify to the efficiency of the officers.

STREET LIGHTS.

The current for the street lights is furnished by the Greendale Chemical company, the contract being sub-let to them by the Natick company, with whom the town has a contract expiring in October 1903. The substance of this contract is that the party furnishing power shall also furnish the labor for petty repairs to the pole lines and also see that the lamps are duly and properly taken care of, the town furnishing lamps and necessary material for repairs. In case of extraordinary repairs the town is to furnish both labor and material. Heavy and continued rains at various times during the year have done much injury to the wires and while no very great expense has been incurred at any one time, yet a small break puts the lights out of service. During the year circuit breakers have been put in, for the purpose of shutting off any particular circuit on which a break may occur, and the town thereby is not left completely in darkness, this works very well, but the wear and tear on the wire and poles during the past seven years, without any extended renovation leaves them in such condition that most any storm will cause one or more breaks and which of course cripples the services for one night at least.

To add to the annoyance of breaks on the pole line, numerous accidents have occurred to the machinery at the power station so that the past year has not been one of the most satisfactory, and although discounts have been frequently made on the lighting bills, it does not compensate the town for the loss of lights.

The streets of the town are now occupied by poles belonging to several different corporations with the prospect of more locations to be granted in the future.

We recommend, first, that an extra appropriation be made at the annual March meeting to thoroughly examine and repair the pole line and fixtures.

Second, that an extra appropriation be made for the purpose of having a complete map made of the town on which should be delineated every pole now located, whether owned by the town or not.

The poles belonging to the town should be properly marked and numbered, and so specified on the map. When any extensions are made or locations granted additions should be made on map, so that a complete record is always at hand.

And third, the appointment of a superintendent of wires who shall have full charge of all wires belonging to the town as well as the supervision of all wires belonging to corporations having locations within the town. This would secure better service for the town and avoid friction between parties having rights on the same street or the joint use of the same line of poles.

REPORT OF THE OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

As Overseers of the Poor your Board have no extended report to make other than the exhibit of expenditures in the financial column. At present there are four inmates of the Wellesley almshouse wholly supported by the town of Needham, and one a veteran of the civil war, who being chargeable to the town of Needham by military settlement, chooses to receive aid in that way although under the law he could not be compelled to receive it there. This case is one in which the town of Wellesley is liable for two-thirds of the expense. Other cases receive partial support in other towns. The larger proportion of the expense of maintenance of the poor is temporary, and partial support in the nature of house rent, fuel and occasional provisions.

We recommend the following appropriations for the current year.

Support of Poor,	$5,000
Salaries of Town Officers,	2,800

TOWN OF NEEDHAM, MASS.

Annual Report

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

FOR THE YEAR 1900.

Recorder Press,

1901.

Report of the Superintendent.

To the School Committee of Needham:—

At the close of another twelve months of congenial employment in the service of the public schools of this town, and in the continued enjoyment of cordial relations with all who are associated with me in the work, I take pleasure in submitting to you my fourth annual report.

THE AVERY SCHOOL.

During the time covered by this report the Avery School has again been the scene of too frequent changes of teachers. At the close of the second term, early in 1900, Miss Campbell was granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the school year. During her leave of absence, Miss Mary E. Archer was employed as a substitute. Before September Miss Campbell resigned. Special effort was made to secure an equally efficient teacher. Miss Caroline R. Little, a teacher of very successful experience, entered the school at the opening of the current school year but resigned at the close of the first term to accept a position in a town offering greater financial inducements. Miss Kingsbury, after a year's leave of absence, returned to service in September, succeeding Mrs. Farnham, who had served as her substitute.

Miss Little's withdrawal illustrates once more our peculiar province as a suitable hunting place for superintendents who can offer pecuniary inducements to successful teachers. I call attention to my remarks of a year ago in regard to salaries and suggest that this town no longer delay the introduction of a salary list that will at least lessen the disastrous effects of competition with towns of similar resources.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

May 11, 1900, Mr. D. Howard Fletcher became principal of the High School in place of Mr. W. H. Godfrey, who had resigned to accept a more lucrative position elsewhere. Mr. Fletcher was chosen from a large number of candidates, after a careful investigation of their qualifications, and his six months' service in Needham has not disappointed the expectations that were entertained at the time of his election.

Soon after the opening of the current school year, Miss Doran, who had taught in the High School since 1897, resigned her position in order to gain needed rest from school work. Her departure was the cause of general regret. The good wishes of pupils, parents, fellow-teachers and school officers follow her in her retirement. Efforts to secure a suitable successor to Miss Doran resulted in the election of Miss Mary T. Loughlin, a graduate of the Boston schools and of Radcliffe College. She came to us with little experience but with a reputation for high attainments in scholarship and with the warm commendation of her teachers, who had great confidence in her ability to become a successful teacher.

Serious conditions confront the new administration. In the first place three teachers are attempting to do work that cannot be performed properly without the assistance of another teacher. The aim of the school is high. Our people expect and have a right to expect that the curriculum shall embrace all subjects essential for admission to the best colleges or for the adequate training of pupils whose school days terminate in Needham. Such a curriculum puts upon three teachers too great a variety of subjects and too large a number of classes. We have an excellent building, we have the books, we have the pupils, we have a janitor, we have coal. We need not ask the town to spend money to get more of these. But we need another High School teacher, and can hardly doubt that the town will willingly vote the approximate additional expense of five and one-half dollars per High School pupil necessary to add greatly to the efficiency of the school.

In the second place, Mr. Fletcher and his assistants are confronted with a condition that is not peculiar to Needham.

A great need of many high school children is a higher ideal of duty. They have insufficient zeal for the mastery of their daily lessons. The lowest attainment that will secure promotion at the close of the year satisfies their ambition. They lack the power of application to hard lessons, and quickly submit to difficulties. They devote hours in school to dreamy poring over their books, or to useless and sometimes disorderly flitting away of their time. They allow outside attractions to take time that ought to be devoted to home study. Even children who are inclined to look upward are soon brought toward the general level and gauge their accomplishments by comparison with their classmates rather than by reference to perfect standards. May we not reasonably expect of parents sufficient interest in their own children to bring to bear upon this difficulty the weight of parental influence?

An additional failure to comprehend the measure of their duty is seen in the attitude of pupils toward school discipline. Petty misdemeanors are indulged in by boys and girls who would resent the imputation that they lack good breeding and who in their ordinary relations beyond school walls merit respect and commendation. Pupils who lead school thought fail to grasp the opportunity to put school life upon a higher plane. Efforts of teachers to stem the current are resented even by pupils whose personal conduct is not open to serious imputation. Rebukes are met by attempts to argue with superiors.

The worst feature of the difficulty remains to be noticed. Were these evils confined to pupils of vicious tendencies, they could be met by the exclusion of such pupils from school upon evidence of their inability or unwillingness to conform to proper standards. But the evils are not thus confined. Many pupils whom we instinctively take to our hearts seem to be actually ignorant of the true nature of their conduct and with unfeigned surprise receive admonition from those who see things in their true light. To treat such pupils as wanton offenders would not meet the requirements of justice nor satisfy the proper expectations of the community. But teachers must meet these difficulties, if public schools are to be true to their mission.

The root of the trouble lies in the general attitude of the home and the community. In the family, in public gatherings, in stores, on the streets, everywhere, the same tendency of boys and girls to trespass against the rights of elders, the same argumentativeness, the same superabundant conceit, the same want of respect for authority, the same lack of reverence for higher and better things is in evidence. We make no mistake, therefore, when we request parents to look well to the home training of their children. Nor do we err in suggesting that people generally take part in giving the pendulum a swing backward toward the conditions that prevailed when children were taught their proper place more than at the present day.

I dismiss this subject disclaiming any desire to bring back the day when children were looked upon as having few rights that adults were bound to respect. Present conditions are the natural result of enlightened public sentiment breaking away from parental and pedagogical tyranny and public suppression of childhood. But the reaction has been too great. There is a golden mean which we may all seek. These boys and girls—our boys and girls—who often cause us anxious thought, can be brought into proper relations toward home, school, and society. Proper ideals we must continuously, prudently and kindly set before them. Precept must be followed by patient, firm and intelligent exercise of adequate authority to hold them to conduct that will conform as nearly as possible to those proper ideals.

THE KIMBALL SCHOOL.

At the opening of the fall term the pressure upon Miss Conner's room made relief imperative. It was at once perceived that the best solution of the difficulty lay in the separation of the two grades assigned to her room, leaving her in charge of the fifth grade and using one of the vacant rooms for Grade IV. Each of the first five grades would then have been in charge of one teacher, leaving Miss Melcher, as heretofore, with Grades VI and VII and Miss Wentworth with the two remaining grammar grades. The execution of this plan involved the addition of one teacher to the Kimball corps and no appropriation was available for the purpose. It was immediately evident that the opportunity had come for effecting two desirable results at an actual saving of expense. By closing the Parker School, transferring Miss Foss to the Kimball School, transporting the Parker district children by electric cars to the Kimball School, and assigning them to the proper classes, the pressure upon Miss Conner's room would be removed, the grading of the Kimball would be improved, no teacher would have too many pupils and the children of the Parker school would receive the greatest benefit of all. This arrangement was not effected for reasons that will appear later in this report.

Supposed temporary relief was given by dividing the fourth grade and assigning a part of it to Miss Eaton. This relief has been made permanent. Although not fully satisfied with this arrangement, it seems the best that can be made under existing conditions and I hope that the zeal and co-operation of the two teachers of the fourth grade will compensate in a measure for the loss incidental to dividing the class and giving it to different teachers.

No change of teachers has taken place in the Kimball School since the publication of the last annual report. Accustomed to their respective duties and to one another, the teachers are successfully meeting the requirements of their positions and the pupils are making commendable progress. A noticeable increase in the membership of the first grade necessitated the addition of another row of desks soon after the opening of the school in September. The increase was not so great, however, as to crowd the room and the little folk have received proper attention. Elsewhere in this report allusion is made to this increase in Miss Tisdale's department.

THE PARKER SCHOOL.

The attendance at the Parker School has become very small. Early in September the expediency of closing the school and conveying its pupils to the Kimball school received the attention of the committee. The completion of the electric railway makes it possible to convey the children to the Kimball School, in comfort, at an expense considerably less than the cost of maintaining a separate school. The location of the road makes it possible for nearly every child to reach an electric car by walking a shorter distance than he is now obliged to walk in going to the Parker School.

So desirable an improvement in school conditions would have been of incalculable benefit to the pupils of the smaller school. It was soon evident, however, that people in the Parker district were not in sympathy with the contemplated change. A written protest and petition was received by the committee and a hearing was given in the hall of the Parker School. The objections of the petitioners were there made public. Every objection raised had already been made in other towns that have adopted the policy of transportation. I have no wish to belittle these objections. They were apparently offered in good faith. It is not difficult to understand why people who have seen nothing of the benefits of consolidating schools shrink from change. Satisfied with present conditions, they discourage innovations, even when urged by those whose life has been given to the study of school problems and in the work of educational progress. I must, however, frankly state that I cannot discover sufficient weight in the objections to change my belief that the reasons for the contemplated change predominate.

Following the hearing was the decision of the committee to postpone action. It did not seem best to force even a desirable innovation. Time often changes opposition into favor and such would be a welcome outcome of this case. If, however, the sentiment of the town clearly favors giving the children of the Parker district the benefit of the Kimball school, time should not be expended in waiting to bring everybody into harmony with the idea. I have no doubt that within three months of making the change most of its present opponents would recognize and admit its benefits. Public sentiment is likely to follow the judgment of the committee to whom the people have entrusted the care of the schools and the responsibility of legislating for their improvement.

BENEFIT OF CONSOLIDATION.

Strong reasons exist for bringing the children of small outlying schools like the Parker and Harris to central graded schools like the Kimball and Avery. In the graded schools each pupil is placed in a room attended by pupils of about his own age and taught by a teacher elected because of special qualifications for the grades she is required to teach. No room in the Kimball School has more than two grades of pupils and some of the rooms have but one grade. Under such conditions every grade gets a large portion of the time of its teacher. One teacher at the Parker School is attempting to do the work of eight grades. The consequent division of the school into numerous classes leaves but little of her time for the instruction of any one grade. Furthermore, no teacher has equal qualifications for teaching every grade and no teacher can do her best work in a school that covers eight years of her pupils' lives. Too frequent changes of teachers are not desirable, but no one will seriously maintain that children are not benefited by coming into contact with the minds and hearts of more than one teacher during the first eight years of school life.

Within reasonable limits also large classes are productive of better results than very small classes. An essential element of education is the contact of mind with mind. Children learn from the mistakes and successes of other children. Make, for illustration, a concrete comparison. At the time of writing this report, Miss Foss has a second-grade class of two pupils and at the Kimball Miss Price has twenty-six pupils of the same grade. What parent would hesitate, other things being equal, to take the chances of his child's progress with twenty-six in a closely graded school rather than with two in a multi-graded school?

Children also receive a broader social development by coming into contact with many other children of nearly equal age and attainments. An only child suffers for want of brothers and sisters, and wise parents of such children seek to bring them into contact with other children. In like manner small groups of children living in a sparsely settled district need contact with larger numbers of pupils who have common interests in a large graded school. The children of a large central school as well as those of a small isolated school gain breadth of view by association in one school.

A LOOK BACKWARD.

The most gratifying chapter of school history is the fact that every step of progress in school affairs, although bitterly opposed at its inception, has finally commended itself to the great majority of its former opponents. Even they would now oppose any step backward. This question of conveying pupils to the larger schools has arisen again and again. In the face of stubborn opposition the policy has been adopted by town after town. The last published report of the State Board of Education shows that the amounts expended for conveying children increased from $24,145.12, during the year 1889-90 to $127,409.22 during the year 1898-1899. This is overwhelming evidence of the determination to give the children of the outlying districts the best opportunities that the towns can afford. The extent to which the policy of transportation prevail furthermore appears from the fact (shown also by the State report) that of the 353 towns and cities of the State 251 contributed to the total amount expended during the year 1898-1899.

TENURE OF TEACHERS.

An excellent law of this state authorizes school committees to elect teachers for service during the pleasure of the board without the necessity of future elections. The purpose of the law is to put a premium upon successful teaching and to stimulate every teacher who holds a position under the uncertainties of annual tenure to earn the honor of election to permanent tenure. Once upon permanent tenure, a teacher will be protected from removal except upon specific charges affecting the character of her service, followed by a hearing at which she shall have an opportunity to defend herself. It can hardly be doubted that for the security and honor of such tenure a teacher would hesitate to accept service elsewhere, even for a higher salary, unless protected by similar tenure in the new field of labor. The inducement to do good work and remain in the same town would accordingly benefit the town no less than the teacher.

The adoption of a tenure of office regulation involves no risk to the service. Repeal can instantly follow any evidence that the regulation fails of its purpose. Even a mistaken policy of a committee cannot continue against a majority of voters determined to effect a change.

In Needham the annual election of several teachers has become almost a matter of form. Their faithful and efficient service during a succession of years precludes discussion or question of their fitness for further service. These teachers deserve the reward and honor of permanent tenure, subject to removal for cause. Other teachers ought to be put into an attitude of hoping for the same recognition. I recommend permanent tenure and if it meets your approval, I am ready to formulate a plan for putting it into operation.

ENROLMENT.

A comparison of Table I of this report with the corresponding table printed last year shows a large falling off in the total enrolment. A statement of a change in making returns to the State Board of Education will explain the difference between the figures.

Heretofore returns have been made covering the calendar year. The enrolment included all children found in the schools at the opening of the schools in January and all other pupils, afterward admitted, who, during the year, had not been enrolled in any other school in this town. Under this arrangement, the total was largely increased by including two sets of children in the first primary grade. Those belonging in January were included, and those entering school for the first time in September were also counted. The September children were again enrolled the following January. It thus appears that many children were counted twice within twelve months, thereby enlarging the numbers given in the annual report. All children who came from the schools of other towns also increased the total enrolment.

This arrangement caused a great difference between the total enrolment and the average membership. The difference was misleading to persons not accustomed to the study of school returns. It seemed to show that a large proportion of the children were not members of the schools throughout the year. It also gave a wrong impression of the relative number of pupils that entered the lower grades.

Under the new arrangement of the State Board, the enrolment covers the school year extending from September to June and excludes pupils, who, during the year, have attended other schools within the state. This arrangement avoids the double enrolment already noticed and also excludes the enrolment of nearly all children who moved to Needham during the year. It gives value to the comparison of the enrolment figures of the different grades with one another and with the total membership and average membership returns.

Next year a comparison of the enrolment with Table I of this report will show differences based on the same method of formulating the tables.

AVERAGE MEMBERSHIP.

Table II shows a smaller average membership than was reported last year.

The decrease in the number of pupils and the percentage of decrease is exhibited below:

*Increase.

Nearly half of the net decrease in the number of pupils occurred at the Parker School. The percentage of decrease at that school exhibits in a striking manner the changed conditions of attendance that have befallen the school. Elsewhere in this report additional notice is called to this matter.

RECENT MEMBERSHIP.

The accompanying statistical tables show the membership of the schools on two dates since the year covered by Table II. The membership Sept. 30, 1900, was 729 and for Dec. 21 it was 693. These two dates were chosen because the first represents the schools under favorable weather conditions and the second is at a season of the year when many children below the compulsory limit are kept at home. These numbers are a little larger than the corresponding numbers published last year. The Kimball School shows the greatest change, the membership, Dec. 21, being 31, or $15\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, larger than a year ago. The greatest change is in Miss Tisdale's room, in which the membership has increased fifty per cent.

A COMPARISON OF AGES.

Table IV shows interesting variations between the average ages of children in any grade and between the ages of the oldest and youngest pupils of the same grade. In Grade II, for example the oldest boy was 7 years 10 months older than the youngest boy of that grade and 6 years 2 months older than the average age. These are extreme cases but in nearly every grade the differences are conspicuous. It will also be seen that deviations from the average age are greater in the case of the oldest children than in the case of the youngest children. In other words, in the case of exceptional children, adverse circumstances retard their average progress more conspicuously than favorable conditions promote it; more pupils lose regular promotion than gain extra promotion.

This table will be of especial interest to parents because it will enable them to see how the progress of their children compares with the average progress. It ought also to be of interest to teachers as an indication that they should use every effort to aid the less fortunate children to make average progress, and even more than average progress when the adverse circumstance is not defective intellect. When we see that the oldest girl in Grade II was older than the average age of the girls in Grade VII, we cannot fail to be impressed with the abnormal, unfortunate and discouraging environment of this girl. In most cases, the teachers in charge of these special cases are not responsible for existing conditions. Often nature has withheld natural endowments; but neglect of parents to induce regular attendance, failure on their part to inculcate zeal for study and habits of industry and inability of previous teachers to meet special difficulties, are no less prominent reasons for finding children below the grades where they naturally belong. A helping hand should be extended to every pupil who by birth, training, or by other untoward circumstances, wholly or partially beyond his control, is assigned to a class of pupils much younger than himself.

At the same time pupils capable of more than average progress should be encouraged and aided in making such progress. The rights of the highly-favored children are no less sacred than those of the children whom we considered in the preceding paragraph. Extra promotions should be no less frequent than non-promotions. The gap between a grade and the next higher grade should not be an insuperable barrier to the child whose physical and intellectual strength and ambitious purpose indicate that he has ability to enter the higher grade and meet its requirements. More intellects suffer from stagnation than from overburdening. Many problems of discipline could be solved were it possible to place every child where he could get the right kind and amount of work.

CONCLUSION.

A review of the year gives many reasons for satisfaction and few for regret. But no year can be so successful as to make greater success hopeless. With confidence in the committee, teachers, pupils and parents, I look forward to another year of progress and trust that the superintendent may in no small degree contribute to the general result.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY M. WALRADT,

Superintendent of Schools.

Respectfully submitted for the Committee,

ADELINE E. HARRIS,

Secretary

Director of Drawing.

To the School Committee of Needham:—

WITH pleasure, I present to you a brief outline of the work in drawing during the past year.

Nature gives us our first inspiration, and we begin in the first grade to sketch the grasses and sedges, these being the simplest objects to draw, and teaching the children a free arm movement of power, by the long waving lines necessary to represent them.

Drawing spreads out in so many directions, we can only touch on the different lines in the routine of school life, some parts of the work appealing to some pupils, and some to others. In the first grades the children learn to use the rules, can draw lines of definite length; and draw squares and rectangles of definite size on black-board and on paper. They learn the colors of the spectrum, red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet as the standard colors. They learn the type solids and how to sketch them. Three famous pictures are studied with names of the artists. Later these little ones learn to draw the simple leaves and flowers, working them into designs for the borders of handkerchiefs etc.,—the principles, repetition and alternation, being brought out in these designs.

Report of the School Committee.

The school committee respectfully submit their report together with that of the superintendent for the year 1900.

The committee, last year, called the attention of the town to the great difficulty of retaining good teachers long in our employ owing to the proximity of our town to larger towns and cities able to pay larger salaries.

During this year we have suffered so much in the loss of teachers, especially in the Avery school, that the committee after careful consideration have deemed it advisable, if the town will grant the money, to raise the maximum of the grammar grade teachers to $500 per annum, and of those of the primary grade to $450, a total increase of $608 for 16 teachers, or an increase for each teacher about one dollar per week. The committee is aware that this is only a partial solution of the problem, but experience has shown us that even a small increase would have retained several teachers who have left us, a year longer and possibly two. We will recommend therefore the appropriation of $17,800 for the support of the schools to be applied, at the discretion of the committee as nearly as possible as follows: $15,800 for schools including the salary of the superintendent; $1,100 and tuition of non-resident pupils for books and supplies; and $900 for incidentals. We desire the appropriation to be voted as above designated so that an unexpended balance, as was the case this year, under one division may be used to offset a deficiency in one or both of the others. If this could have been done this year, there need have been no deficiencies under either of the three separate appropriations for the schools, but an unexpended balance of $211.07 of the entire amount of money granted for the support of the schools.

We would call the especial attention of the town to the arguments advanced by the superintendent in his report in regard to the transportation of the pupils of the Parker school to the Kimball. There seems to be no other way open to giving the children of the citizens living in the outlying parts of the town equal advantages with those living near the large central schools.

The committee most heartily thank all the people of our town who have so generously given of their time and money for the purchase of an elegant Chickering concert grand piano for the high school.

About $250 has already been raised towards the cost of the piano $292.50.

The days of public spirit are not past yet, nor should they be if we would teach our children to be generous.

In conclusion we would report our schools as being in excellent condition, and refer our townspeople for their chief information in regard to them to the report of the Superintendent.

APPARATUS.

The apparatus in service remains unchanged. One of the old hand reels has been located at Greendale with five hundred (500) feet of hose, according to the instructions from the town, and housed at C. N. Carter's on Great Plain avenue. Five men were appointed to take charge. So far it has rendered good service in saving property, the only fault being, it does not carry hose enough.

HOSE.

The hose in the department is in good condition with the exception of one thousand (1000) feet, which was purchased ten years ago, and is not reliable. It gradually keeps growing unfit for service. Last year I recommended the purchase of one thousand (1000) feet, but the amount was reduced one half, and having to locate five hundred (500) feet at Greendale, it leaves the department short of a full change of hose. I wish to renew my recommendation to purchase one thousand (1000) feet this spring.

My thanks are cordially extended to the officers and members of the department including the Assistant Supt. of Fire Alarm for their prompt and faithful attention to duty. I desire to express my grateful appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

H. A. KINGSBURY,
Chief of Fire Dept.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE LIBRARY.

The trustees of the Needham Free Public Library report an uneventful, but prosperous year with an increased circulation of books. Our industrious librarian has practically completed an excellent card catalogue of the entire library, which will be appreciated by the public.

We would call attention to the pictures which hang upon our walls, and add much to the attractiveness of the reading room. Most of these works of art are loaned to us by the kindness of Miss Knowlton, and we should be glad to receive additions to this department.

Although the educational influences of the best fictions are generally recognized, yet we feel that it is a great mistake for our readers to limit their interest entirely to this kind of literature. Much of the fiction is short lived, and it does not supply the intellectual training or the culture that a more diversified reading does. The town provides a large collection of works of history, science, travel and biography, and the trustees wish that these books were in greater demand. To those desiring to pursue a special study of any subject extra privileges will be given. There are many persons, who perhaps lacking early advantages, have established reputations as authority in certain branches of learning for which they have peculiar tastes and which they have studied systematically. It is an age of specialists, and it is well to know something thoroughly. It is not the fiction that costs the most money, but the standard literature, which ought to do an important educational work in our community. Probably we have as large a percent of readers of the best books as the average library, but we should have liked to have more. Mrs. Myra S. Greenwood has presented us with some photographs of prominent citizens and old buildings, identified with our town, arranged in frames, and we trust that others will imitate her example.

Respectfully submitted in behalf of the trustees.

 Youth's Companion.

For the benefit of persons who do not frequent the Library it seems advisable to state through this report that special arrangements are made for the benefit of teachers, students, study classes, and individuals who may be pursuing special courses of study by which they may borrow and retain for one month without renewing from one to six books, outside the fiction class, with the possible exception of some books which may be at the time in great demand.

The Highlandville Reading Room received from Mr. William Carter a donation of Collier's Weekly also a History of the Spanish American War. Mr. Henry Thomas presented the Reading Room with six volumes of Charles Dicken's works and three volumes of George Eliot's.

In addition to the gifts already mentioned the Library has recently received from Mrs. Myra S. Greenwood two interesting gifts of pictures. One frame contains a photograph of Mr. Charles C. Greenwood, surrounded a group of men, many of whom have held public office in the town, or were early pastors of the First Parish Church. The other frame contains photographs of some of the oldest houses in the town. The Public Library is a safe and appropriate repository for such gifts till the time shall arrive when Needham will have an historical society and rooms for the reception of gifts of historic value. The forming of such a society should be a matter of town concern, otherwise many interesting and valuable articles and documents may be lost or disposed of elsewhere.

Report of the Superintendent of Streets.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen of the Town of Needham:

GENTLEMEN:—I hereby submit the annual report of the Street Department of the Town of Needham for the year 1900.

I desire to call your special attention to the improvement of Great Plain avenue, West street, Central avenue, Charles River street, Highland avenue, Chestnut street and Hunnewell street. [Special attention the coming year should be given South street and Charles River street as the Street Railway Company have not left the street in a suitable condition for public travel, also the recommendation under the head of bridges.

The stone used in the construction of these Streets was taken from different sections of the town, also stone was given to the town by John O'Kane, W. H. Smith and John Dingley, a large quantity of stone is at the crusher now, for future use.

The last ten years has seen a complete revolution in the construction and maintainance of highways. Previous to 1890, the idea was simply to keep roads in such condition as to prevent accidents and the consequent liability of the town, but the agitation of the economics of good roads has led the public to demand better highways and has resulted in a consideration of the question, "How much can we do for the amount appropriated?" instead of "How little can we get along with?"

Experts tell us that in the old style of road work, eighty per cent of the amount expended was wasted in the methods employed, that it is better to cover less surface and place it in a lasting condition, for an arch of stone is indestructible and can only need resurfacing.

No road is better than its worst part, for power provided for its best portion would not be sufficient when a bad portion was reached, therefore a uniformity of condition is necessary for the greatest good of the public.

If by better roads we can reduce the cost of the power employed we are public benefactors.

The improvement of the roads of the commonwealth in certain instances has resulted in reducing the cost of conveyances over one half.

A good road is the cheapest when the durability of it is considered. In order for the town to maintain its reputation, to keep abreast of the times, to invite persons of wealth to live within its borders, and thereby benefit its interest, it is absolutely essential to maintain good roads.

The following concrete walks, crosswalks and gutters were put in :

Highland avenue, from Moseley's factory to residence of J. Durbin ; Mellen street, from Highland avenue to blacksmith shop ; Hillside avenue, from Union to Hunnewell street, resurfacing near residence of Dr. A. E. Miller.

Crosswalks—From depot platform to P. E. Riley's store ; Chestnut to Chapel street and A. L. Woodruff's store to T. J. Crossman's.

Gutters—Central avenue and Reservoir street near Upper Falls bridge ; Hunnewell street from Trainer's Central avenue ; Highland avenue, across Rosemary street to car barn ; Great Plain avenue in front of stores and Chestnut street, from Great Plain avenue to store of Geo. Burrage.

BRIDGES.

I desire to recommend that new planks be laid on Dedham avenue bridge, also some of the old stringers should be replaced by new ones, this is a measure which in the interest of the town should be attended to at once. During the construction of the trestle for use of Natick and Needham street railway, it was discovered by the engineer that the bridge over Charles River was in an unsafe condition. It was deemed advisable to rebuild the bridge at that time as the facilities were at hand for doing the work at a much less expense. When the bridge was originally built it was on mud sills, but when rebuilt some eighteen piles were used, these being twelve inches to two feet in diameter and twenty-five or thirty feet in length. These were driven, and covered with tar, the frame also tarred and bolted to them. The bridge was completed July third at a cost for material and labor, four hundred and thirty dollars ($430.00).

The following tabular statement is submitted, giving street, location on street, and cost of work done.

TOWN OF NEEDHAM, MASS.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Water Commissioners

FOR THE YEAR 1900.

Recorder Press,

1901.

WATER DEPARTMENT.

Commissioners:

FREDERIC G. TUTTLE, Chairman, term expires,	1901
EDMUND G. POND, term expires,	1902
GEORGE H. TOONE, term expires,	1903

Clerk, Superintendent and Registrar:

GEORGE A. ADAMS.

Engineer at Pumping Station:

CHARLES H. MITCHELL.

Regular Meeting of the Board:

2d and 4th Thursday in each month, at 7.30 p. m.

Telephone, Needham 44-2.

Eleventh Annual Report of the Water Commissioners.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Needham, Massachusetts:

The board of water commissioners herewith submit their eleventh annual report, for the year ending December 31, 1900.

At the annual town meeting in March, Mr. George H. Toone, was elected water commissioner for three years.

The board organized by electing Mr. Frederic G. Tuttle chairman and appointing George A. Adams clerk.

SERVICE PIPES.

It has been deemed advisable to have the service pipe laid by the Water Department rather than by contract, as heretofore, and a tapping machine, lining press and other necessary tools have been purchased for the purpose.

WATER SUPPLY.

Working on the plan outlined in our last report, we advertised for proposals for completing Well No. 2.

The contract was awarded to Messrs. Gow and Foss of Boston, they being the lowest bidders, viz., $4,811.00 which with extra labor and material, amounted to $5,081.00

Well No. 2 is 20 feet in diameter and has a finished depth of 30 feet, with a storage capacity of about 65,000 gallons or 3,000 gallons more than Well No. 1 and from data obtained shows as good a ratio in flowage capacity; the two wells are connected by suction pipe and have been in use since July 4, with satisfactory results.

A building of sufficient size to allow a walk outside the curb has been erected over Well 2, and as it was found necessary to put new timber under the roof that covers Well 1 we decided to finish the building on the same lines as Well 2, the walks will be cemented when they are settled sufficiently.

TELEPHONE.

We have had the New England Tel. & Tel. Co., place a telephone in the superintendent's house and a line has also been established between his house, pumping station and Water Commissioner's office.

BONDS.

Bonds to the amount of fifteen thousand dollars were sold to the State Treasurer the first of May. The premium amounting to $1,805.82.

Four thousand ($4,000) dollars of matured bonds were refunded by the town as per vote.
